Paranormal Community Gathers at Historic Pere Cheney to Promote Ethical Investigation and "Paraunity"

GRAYLING, MI – This spring, from April 10th to 12th, 2026, a unique weekend camping event will bring together investigators and enthusiasts at the site of Pere Cheney, Michigan, one of the state's most storied ghost towns. The event aims to foster "paraunity"—a collaborative movement toward ethical, respectful practices in paranormal research.

Once a bustling lumber town, Pere Cheney was decimated by diphtheria and recurring fires before being abandoned in 1917. Today, only the Pere Cheney Cemetery remains, hidden in the Jack Pine forests of Crawford County.

Event Highlights:

- Paranormal Unity: The gathering focuses on building a supportive community of investigators who prioritize respect for the spirits and the preservation of historic sites.
- Expert Guest Speakers: Seasoned researchers will lead discussions on the history of the town, its local legends—including the famous "Witch of Pere Cheney"—and the importance of ethical investigation.
- Limited Attendance: To ensure a low-impact, respectful environment, the event is strictly limited to 75 participants.
- Weekend Schedule:
 - April 10th & 11th: Immersive camping and guest speaker sessions.
 - April 12th: Dedicated site cleanup to ensure the historic grounds are left in better condition than they were found.

"Pere Cheney is more than just a haunted location; it is a place of deep historical tragedy," said Shared Paranormal Investigations Team. "By gathering here, we aim to demonstrate that paranormal investigation can be a force for good—preserving history while honoring those who remain."

Tickets are on sale now at Eventbrite.com.

About Pere Cheney:

Established in 1873, Pere Cheney faced a rapid decline due to disease and fires. It is now a focal point for Michigan folklore, with reports of glowing orbs, phantom voices, and mysterious handprints on vehicles.
